How'd They Do That?

Do you look at a stack of logs and see something other than firewood? Do you appreciate the artistry involved in making a piece of furniture? Do you like the smell of sawdust? Chances are, you might already be one of us! Woodturners come from all walks of life to share their common interest and love of wood. Some will turn for a hobby, some for profit. Others will turn just one thing and others will turn anything their minds can dream of. But, everyone turns because they love it! Get 2 or more turners together and the exchange of ideas and tips and techniques is almost endless. Is it more fun to turn wood or talk about turning wood? Come and find out which you prefer most.

OVWG

The OHIO VALLEY WOODTURNERS GUILD (OVWG) serves Southeastern Indiana, Northern Kentucky and Southwestern Ohio. The fundamental purpose of the OVWG is to provide its members with education, information and organization. We support this interest by providing meeting locations, a forum for the sharing of ideas, exchange of woodturning materials, information about woodturning activities and the promotion of woodturning as an art form and craft.

Our usual meeting date is the third Saturday of the month. Our meeting place varies from month to month; the location is announced in our newsletter and website (www.ovwg.org).
